"The best time to plant a tree was 20 years ago.
The second best time is now."

Confucius

To ensure that future generations can also enjoy our wonderful trees and plants, we aim to minimise our impact on the surrounding landscape. To achieve this, we have started a variety of projects:

✓ Sowing native flower mixtures

The flower mixtures that we sow on our fields are good for the soil, increase the organic matter content and contribute to the biodiversity on and around our fields. Our flower meadows are teeming with bees, butterflies, wasps, hoverflies, ladybugs and birds. These beneficial insects and birds also control pests on our nursery crops. By creating a natural balance, pests have less of a chance and we reduce the use of protective substances.

✓ Green manures to reduce the use of artificial fertilizer

In addition to our flower mixtures, we also sow green manures on our fields. Green manures create healthier soil, higher organic matter content and higher nitrogen content, which means we need to use less fertilizer.

✓ Integrated crop protection

With integrated crop protection, it is vital that the right observations and decisions are made every time by our staff and external advisors. However, some signs of disease or stagnation cannot be immediately identified with the naked eye.

For this we use drones. With these drones, we measure plant activity on the leaves. Reduced plant activity can indicate problems, to which we can respond at an early stage.

✓ Waste separation reduces the impact of our disposal flows

We have a conservative consumption mindset. This means that we never use more than is necessary and therefore minimise our waste. The waste that we do produce is separated wherever possible.

✓ Innovations in mechanisation and electric transport create a healthy work environment

By continuing to innovate in the field of mechanisation, we are lightening the workload for our employees. For example, in partnership with 2 renowned nurseries, we have developed a new self-driving wrapping machine for our large specimen field-grown plants.

We also invest in electric transport. Besides the electric carts for our customers, our forklifts and our work platforms, we are the first company in the Benelux to work with an electric AVANT articulated loader from Finland.

✓ Drastically reducing water consumption by smart watering

We have been watering our container fields in a closed system for many years. This means that water and nutrients end up in our basin and are reused in our irrigation system.

We have also introduced a new way of watering our field-grown plants. By watering underground with drip irrigation, we limit the evaporation of our precious water and the water gets directly to the roots of our plants.

✓ Menkehorst loves nature, that's why we support Trees for All.

Trees care for us, therefore we care for trees. That is the motto of the Trees for All Foundation. Trees for All plants trees in the Netherlands and abroad and compensates CO2 emissions. Since 1999 Trees for All has been committed to planting new forests, restoring existing forests and improving the living conditions of people in developing countries.
